Course Description: Narrative shapes how we understand past and identity, creating power and scapegoating certain groups. Exploring places of recent conflict in the Global South allows us to hear and experience stories, mediation, and commemoration that address historical harms. MayX ONLY. 2 credits.

Program Description: May Experience program will take students to South Africa to examine how the country has been working through a process of transitional justice, reconciliation, and storytelling since the end of Apartheid in 1994. The experience will include a three day orientation and site visits in Johannesburg as well as stays in both Durban and Cape Town. While in Durban, students will be living in pairs in home stays in the township of Cato Manor to gain a deeper cultural understanding of the country they are being hosted in as well as the true realities of Apartheid from those who lived it. While on the ground, students will take part in various lectures, site visits, and de-brief sessions that will tie the themes of transitional justice, reconciliation, and storytelling together as they relate to Apartheid in South Africa.
